PARENT, FAMILY, AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Parent and family engagement in Head Start is about building relationships with families that support family well-being, strong relationships between parents and their children, and ongoing learning and development for both parents and children.

When parent and family engagement activities are systemic and integrated across program foundations and program impact areas, family engagement outcomes are achieved, resulting in children who are healthy and ready for school.

Parent and family engagement activities are grounded in positive, ongoing, and goal-oriented relationships with families.

Each family's HS experience is uniquely determined by their own interests, needs and goals they have for themselves and their children. It starts with meeting families where they are, engaging families in the opportunities and experiences they choose, and deciding what progress would mean together. It means recognizing barriers to progress and figuring out ways to deal with them.

Evidence demonstrates that when the partnership is strong, children form better relationships, feel good about themselves, and do better in school.

Family Outcomes

- Family Well Being. Parents and families are safe, healthy, and have increased financial security.
- Positive Parent-Child Relationships. Beginning with transitions to parenthood, parents and families develop warm relationships that nurture their child's learning and development.
- Families as lifelong educators. Parents and families observe, guide, promote, and participate in the everyday learning of their children at home, school, and in their communities.
- Families as learners. Parents and families advance their own learning interests through education, training and other experiences that support their parenting, careers, and life goals.

- Family engagement in transitions. Parents and families support and advocate for their child's learning and development as they transition to new learning environments, including HS to other early learning environments, and HS to kindergarten through elementary school.
- Family connections to peers and community. Parents and families form connections with peers and mentors in formal or informal social networks that are supportive and/or educational and that enhance social well-being and community life.
- Families as advocates and leaders. Parents and families participate in leadership development, decision making, program policy development, or in community and state organizing activities to improve children's development and learning experiences.
